

Weight Insight Mentor

Know Thyself

Measure. Learn. Adapt.

For many years I wanted to better understand how my weight responded to the choices I made every day. My insights into weight change come from understanding myself and how my body responds to those choices. The resources on this website reflect the lessons I have learned through that process, and I hope you will find them useful on your own weight-loss journey.

June 2026 Fasting Report

Between September 2025 and January 2026 I recorded my weight, experimented with intermittent and extended fasting, and observed how my body responded over time. The purpose was not simply to lose weight, but to better understand the relationship between lifestyle choices, behaviour and weight change. The June 2026 Fasting Report documents those observations and lessons learned.

Also included is a weight goal and tracking spreadsheet designed to help you measure your outcomes, learn from the data, and adapt your approach based on a target weight loss of 1.75 lb per week. Although the file is supplied in Excel format for download, it has been designed for use with Google Sheets. Please upload it to your Google Drive and open it as a Google Sheet to ensure all features and formulas work correctly - the supporting read-me.txt files provides a brief summary of how to use the Google Sheet.

June 2026 Fasting Report \(PDF\)

WIM Support Google Sheet \(Excel Format\)

WIM Support Read-Me \(Text\)

Key Insights

Know Thyself

Understanding ourselves is the foundation for meaningful change.

Measure

Regular measurement provides objective information about what is happening.

Learn

Patterns emerge when observations are collected over time.

Adapt

Small adjustments based on evidence can lead to sustainable progress.

Support and Mentoring

The resources on this website are provided freely. Some people prefer to learn independently, while others value the opportunity to discuss their observations and experiences with another person. If that sounds helpful, I also offer one-to-one online mentoring sessions.

About Graham

My background includes project management, research, teaching and lifelong learning.

My interest in weight insight developed through my own experiences with weight change and a desire to better understand how the choices we make every day influence our wellbeing. The ideas presented here are based on personal experience, observation, measurement and continuous learning.

Contact

Email: graham@theheapstack.com

LinkedIn: Graham Heap

Contact Form

Name:

Email:

Message:

© 2026 Graham Heap. Weight Insight Mentor. All rights reserved.

Made by a human being with the help of modern technology and without prejudice to AI.